Hi,

Im using CS 2.5.0. after a user is created and performing logout and login operation i noticed that user last login value is -1. could somebody please explain me the cases where we get -1 as last login date.

Thank you,

chandu.

Hi Chandu,

Is this value getting set to -1 for every single user in the system or only specific users?

Hi Todd,

during login getting the last login...

This happens to all user only first time i.e. after compleating registration perform logout and login and try to edit user details. in which cases the last login time is set to -1?

Thank you,

chandu.

Hi Chandu,

I guess I am still a little confused here.

- Are you running 2.5.0rc still? or 2.5.1 or 2.5.2?
- When the user registers they are automatically logged in, you are seeing -1 as lastLoggedIn in the database?
- Where exactly are you seeing the -1 value?

Hi Todd,

Sorry for the late reply. we are updating to 2.5.2. moving to 2.5.2 requires some environment changes in our environment. any way we are moving to 2.5.2.

during login getting the last login...

when user registers, user will be automatically logged in. and now if user logout and login and try to edit user profile, here we are getting the last login value as -1. but if i look in the database the last login value is not -1 but it has a valid value. im nto sure why we are getting -1 as last logged in value when we have some valid last login value in database.

Thank you,

chandu.

Hi Chandu,

So this is showing last logged in as -1 in the users profile? This is on 2.0.x right? There were some problems regarding that feature in 2.0.x but if you are moving to 2.5.2 then this shouldn't be an issue any more. Thanks.
